

CARDINAL McCARRICK:

ARE YOU COMFORTABLE NOW?

The passion and suffering of Christ are examples of the “comfort” faithful Catholics should expect in this world.

On April 17, 2003, Pope John Paul II made it clear that bishops have an obligation to deny Holy Communion to Catholics demonstrating “outward conduct which is seriously, clearly and steadfastly contrary to the moral norm.”*

Despite the counsel of both Christ and the Holy Father, Cardinal Theodore McCarrick of Washington, D.C. made this statement on April 27, 2004, concerning Catholic politicians who openly support legalized abortion:

“I have not gotten to the stage where I’m comfortable in denying the Eucharist.”

Comforting words for John Kerry, Nancy Pelosi, Ted Kennedy and the 68 other pro-abortion “Catholic” politicians in Congress.

But cold comfort for the 1.3 million babies surgically aborted every year.

YOU CAN'T BE BOTH CATHOLIC AND PRO-ABORTION!
