

planned parenthood exploits teens

You may have heard of an organization called Planned Parenthood. It calls itself a “non-profit health organization that you can trust.” The truth is that Planned Parenthood LIES to you so that it can USE you to make a PROFIT.

Planned Parenthood has even created an entire web site called TeenWire whose sole purpose is to keep pushing sex into your life. This web site promotes any and all sex acts with any partner (or partners), regardless of age or gender, as normal. You will also find that Planned Parenthood lies through the use of medically and logically incorrect descriptions of pregnancy and personhood, as well as denying important health information about birth control and abortion.

planned parenthood lies to you

According to Planned Parenthood’s TeenWire,

“The pill does not cause an abortion. Abortion ends a pregnancy. Birth control pills, as well as the ring, the patch, the shot, and emergency contraception pills, prevent pregnancy before it happens. They work by preventing the release of an egg and/or the fertilization of an egg.”

To unravel the truth, you have to decode Planned Parenthood’s lies. First of all, abortion is not simply “ending a pregnancy.” If that were true then live birth would be an abortion too. Abortion is the killing and removal of the developing child within their mother.

Secondly you have to know how the pill works. The pill can prevent the release of the egg or thicken the cervical mucus, making it more difficult for the sperm to reach the egg, but these actions can fail. The last action (which Planned Parenthood conveniently leaves out) only takes effect after the sperm has already fertilized the egg and a new person has been created. The pill alters the lining of the womb, creating a hostile environment for this tiny person and making it impossible to implant. Therefore, this tiny person dies and is expelled from his mother’s body. To make things even worse, the mother of this child may have no idea that her baby had just died.

Planned Parenthood insists this isn’t an abortion even though a preborn child was just killed. What do you think? But don’t take our word for it; write Planned Parenthood and ask if the pill can kill. You’ll see how they lie about simple scientific terms and hide important medical information like this from you.

planned parenthood wants to use you

You may have noticed Planned Parenthood already involved in your Girl Scouts, YWCA, Boys and Girls Club and even near or in your school, encouraging young people to participate in the over-sexualized lifestyle that creates a demand for the products and services that Planned Parenthood sells. It pushes its brand of “sexuality education” by promoting novelty sex toys to kids, like lollipop shaped condoms and key chains with sexually charged messages on them. It also offers a book called It’s Perfectly Normal which shows children graphic depictions of uncensored sex acts.

Its goal is to get you to believe that an oversexualized lifestyle is normal, that birth control will always “protect” you and that abortion is “safe and easy.” In its “Tell-a-Friend” program, Planned Parenthood offers coupons, free movie tickets, iPods and even straight up cash to teens who refer their friends or siblings to buy its products and join in the exploitation. Planned Parenthood doesn't want you to realize that it is taking advantage of you and that's why it enlists the help of your peers to build up false trust.

Planned Parenthood's own reports show that about 70 percent of its customer base is under 25. Over a quarter are teenagers. However, it loses 43 percent of its customers each year. That's why, every year, it tries to convince hundreds of thousands of young people to become its new customers. If you are 25 or younger, then you are Planned Parenthood's biggest target.

why is planned parenthood so interested in you?

To put it in one word: PROFITS.

Even though Planned Parenthood claims to be a non-profit organization, each year it manages to make a profit of millions of dollars. Because of its non-profit status Planned Parenthood gets huge discounts on the products that it sells. According to a Planned Parenthood memo, it buys emergency contraception kits for $4.25 and then jacks up the price and sells them for an average of $30 a pop. They also say that their "health experts" recommend buying extra doses of emergency contraception to always have "just in case."

If you find it hard to believe that Planned Parenthood is trying to scam you into buying outrageously marked up products that are potentially dangerous to your health, just call a local Planned Parenthood and ask how much it charges for an emergency contraception kit.

While Planned Parenthood's biggest revenue comes from the sale of contraceptives, despite what it may want you to believe, contraception fails. When it does, Planned Parenthood is there to turn another buck. As the nation's largest abortion provider, over $110 million of its business comes from committing abortions—over a quarter of a million each year.

You might hear that Planned Parenthood "charges on a sliding scale" for its products and services. As strange as it may sound, this is how it makes some of its biggest money. For every person that it offers discounted or even free products, Planned Parenthood scams the government into big payouts of taxpayers' money. These government grants and contracts make up approximately one-third of its yearly income, totaling almost $300 million a year.

If you combine all the money Planned Parenthood got from its customers, their insurance companies and even the government for the year 2005, you will find that Planned Parenthood made nearly $900 million. Of the total income, over $60 million was pure profit. All of these figures are from Planned Parenthood's latest annual report, which is available for anyone to see on its web site.

Now you see how Planned Parenthood has found a way to lie to you about sex and its consequences in order to use you for your money. If you're tired of being hurt and exploited by this big business, it's time to stand up. There is something YOU can do!

now that you know . . .

Planned Parenthood lies to you

Planned Parenthood exploits you

Planned Parenthood just wants your cash

. . . here's what you can do

- Tell other people never to trust Planned Parenthood, especially your friends and family. Don't let this organization get away with its lies any more.
- No matter what promotions it offers; never go to Planned Parenthood for any reason. Tell your friends to stay away too. Let it know that you will not be used.
- Find out how involved Planned Parenthood is in your school and youth organizations, and insist that it get out and stay out.
- Most importantly, the business of Planned Parenthood relies on young people living an actively sexualized lifestyle. If you remain chaste until marriage and faithful to your spouse afterward then it can't use you to make even a single cent.
