CiV lists their “best practices” on their website and state their goals:

1. Transform lives and restore the dignity of the underprivileged;
2. Inspire hope in those affected by natural disasters or long-term poverty;
3. through works of charitable solidarity and brotherly aid aimed at human progress and stimulating the pursuit of justice;
4. Support and encourage a deeper understanding of caritas in the priesthood;
5. Help restore Catholic life, apostolate and liturgies for youth and families as an essential building block to an authentic Catholic aid effort; e. help restore, through charity in truth, true dignity of the poorest of the poor;
6. Build local and sustainable communities, which will be able to bear witness and offer to the world the gift of charity in truth over many decades;
7. Form a generation of young leaders who will continue to practice the integrated compassion of good works and evangelization throughout the rest of their lives.
